Funeral will be held on Saturday, leaving the family residence on Second street at 10:15 a.m. with services in Holy Ghost church at 10:30.

A large circle of friends grieves with Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDonald today at the sudden and unexpected passing of their daughter Florence, 27, wife of Mr. Toby Channing, of Toronto, in a Toronto hospital at 1 p.m. Monday. One hour after Mrs. Channing's passing her parents were told of her death by her husband in a telephone call.

Born in Coleman deceased attended local public and high schools taking part in various school activities and at one time was an active member of Coleman's C.Y.O.

Graduating from high school she entered the University of Alberta where a few years later she graduated with her degree in Household Economics. She left for Toronto where she gained employment as dietitian with the T. Eaton Co.

In August, 1945, she married Mr. Toby Channing and the young couple took up residence in the Queen city. Her passing was entirely unexpected by her family.

The body was scheduled to be shipped to Coleman from Toronto on Tuesday noon and was expected to arrive here possibly Friday morning. The funeral will be held the morning of its arrival with services in Holy Ghost church and interment being made in Coleman Catholic cemetery.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. McDonald and son Jim left for Calgary where they were scheduled to meet Mr. Channing who was flying in to Calgary from Toronto. It was the first meeting between the McDonalds and Mr. Channing.

Surviving are the husband, her parents, three sisters, Penelope, Isabel and Peggy, and two brothers, Jim and Bernard. All family members will be present for the funeral, Peggy arriving home from Calgary on Tuesday morning.

Many of deceased's school mates still reside in Coleman and they too join in extending their sympathy to the family.

SCOTTY MUNROE TO COACH BELLEVUE LIONS

Bellevue Lions, entry in the Western Canada Junior hockey league, has a new coach today in the person of Scotty Munroe, former coach of Lethbridge Native Sons.

The Lions are in the league cellar. The team has many good players but lack of proper coaching has caused their downfall in practically all their games. Now that an experienced coach has them in hand it is expected that the club will start to click and chalk up a few wins.

To-date the club has enjoyed superb support from Pass fans. A winning club will attract even greater support.

Coleman Citizens Thronged To Remembrance Day Service; New Cenotaph Unveiled by S. C. Short

Seventeen Local Organizations Laid Wreaths On Cenotaph; Cold Bitter Wind Cut Into Citizens; Parade of Veterans, R.C.M.P., Elks, Pipe Band.

At 9:30 a.m. citizens started to gather at the Legion grounds which houses the Memorial Park which is centred by the Cenotaph. At 9:45 the parade formed led by two members of the R.C.M.P. and Police Chief Antle, Capt. Maurice Cooke, M.B.E. 6 flag bearers, Coleman pipe band, the veterans of the past two wars and Coleman Elks. It marched down main street and turned into Second street where it marched down to Excel Builders beading and then back along main street.

At the services Chairman J. J. McIntyre stated:
"We gather at the Cenotaph today to pay tribute to our youth of two generations. This is indeed a Sacred Day. It is sacred to every Service man; it is sacred to those whose loved ones did not return from the field of battle; it is sacred in a very special way to those 'who lie beneath the crosses, row on row' in the Cemeteries of Battle Scattered Europe."

"We are assembled at our own Cenotaph built by you, the people of Coleman, as a tribute of reverence and gratitude to those of our Community who have made the Supreme Sacrifice. Truly, then, this Cenotaph is near and dear to the hearts of all our loyal citizens."

"But reverence and gratitude, noble sentiments though they be, do not of themselves constitute a complete tribute to those who have laid down their lives in two Great Wars. There is a much bigger debt we owe them. They have died for a high and glorious Cause. In fighting and in dying they have fulfilled that noble purpose that may be summarized in these words of a famous General, over two thousand years ago — 'Gird yourselves and be valiant men; and be ready against the morning that you may fight with these Nations that are assembled against us. For it is better to die in battle than to see the evils of our nation.'"

"In 1914-1918, and in 1939-1945 the very Flower of our Nation's Manhood has gone forth bravely to battle — and to death; to save us from evils that are even terrible to contemplate. Our duty to them is not fulfilled by a once-a-year observance of their achievements and their glory. They have said to us 'to you we throw the Torch; be yours to hold it high'. We hold that torch high only if, and when we further the cause for which they died. That is, by self-sacrificing interest and effort in all that pertains to the Freedom and the Glory, and the Welfare of this Land of ours. In so doing we will, in very truth, 'Keep faith with those who died.'"

Prayers were said by Rev. A. S. Dewdney, followed by Salvation Army Officer Lieut. T. Burkholder. The address was delivered by S. C. Short. He said:
"I am sure that we all feel that but a few words would serve as a full and sufficient dedication on this occasion, for

POLISH VETERANS TOOK PART IN SERVICE

Many persons attending the Remembrance Day service last Thursday were just a little bit proud of the part the Polish Veterans took in the service.

Practically all of these men are newly arrived in town yet they were already organized to the point that they could take part as a unit in the service, march in the parade and raise wreaths with which to purchase a beautiful wreath to lay alongside that of the B.E.S.L. and Coleman organizations.

Staff Sgt. Heronim Krause laid the wreath at the Cenotaph on behalf of his Polish comrades. These same Polish veterans are busy learning to speak the language of the land and in so doing prepare themselves to take their place in the Dominion as loyal citizens.

They are to be commended for their aggressive energy shown to-date.

107 Abnormal Chest Conditions Revealed By T. B. Clinic

Those Receiving Letters To Have Re-Examination Are Advised To Do So; Coleman Visit a Success.

Mr. Horace Allen, chairman of the Lions committee which sponsored the local visit of the T.B. X-ray Clinic here last week, has received the following letter from Dr. A. H. Baker along with an enclosure showing the results of the examinations it reads:

Dear Mr. Allen:
I understand that you acted as General Chairman for the organization of the Mobile X-Ray Unit which recently carried out in Coleman, I am, therefore, sending you the statistical report for this survey.

If you publicize these figures, would you please draw attention to the fact that the diagnoses made are not final, but are based solely upon the appearance of the X-Ray films. For this reason, where there has been further examination advised, those persons concerned should be encouraged to have this done so that the diagnosis may be established. Letters have been sent to those persons whose films showed anything of significance.

May I take this opportunity to thank you and those who worked with you to organize this Survey. The Tuberculosis Division appreciates the fact that local organization and interest are of prime importance in getting the people of the community to turn out in sufficient numbers to make such a survey a success. It is considered that the turn-out in Coleman was very satisfactory.

Regarding the 58 non-tuberculous conditions he stated that scar tissue might be showing from a previous chest ailment or it could be from silicosis or some other disease.

He remarked that all persons receiving letters asking that they be re-examined should make it a point to do so for their own protection.

The East African Colonies

SINCE THE WAR THE PEOPLE OF BRITAIN have been chiefly concerned with rebuilding their industries and their homes, and following the programme laid down by their government for economic recovery. At the same time it is evident that time and money have been devoted to the British colonies in East Africa and that progress is being made in carrying out the policy laid down some time ago for developing the natural resources and encouraging the native population to adopt modern methods of industry and agriculture and improve living standards. Mr. Rees Williams, Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, returned to Britain recently after visiting East Africa and brought back some interesting facts concerning progress which is being made there.

Industries To Be Established

Comparable in size to Western Europe, East Africa has a population of between twelve and fourteen million people. At the present time some areas are thinly populated because of the tsetse fly, a pest which infests large sections of Tanganyika and Uganda. The government is undertaking a programme of extermination and it is hoped that these areas may soon be made more habitable. As part of the plan for economic expansion, a large hydro plant will be established in Uganda which will provide power for copper, steel and cotton mills, to be set up in that district. Although Britain is at present short of steel, Mr. Rees Williams urged that the government should raise the allocation of steel for East Africa to provide railway equipment which is urgently needed. The establishment of heavy industries and the settling of more British people in these colonies was also strongly recommended by the Under-Secretary.

Stress Danger Of Erosion

It was also reported that mass education is being energetically promoted and that there are extensive facilities for training the native population in modern methods of tilling the land. The importance of agriculture in the East African territory was emphasized and it was pointed out that there is much new land to be brought under cultivation. However, it was also pointed out that there is danger there of soil erosion and that it is important that settlers should be carefully selected and that over-population of the area should be avoided. The need for British settlers in East Africa, to teach the native population European arts and crafts and to lead the way in raising living standards was stressed by Mr. Rees Williams. It is to be hoped that Britain's plans for the development of these colonies will continue to advance and that industry and agriculture will prosper.

Western Hockey Players Well Represented In Major Leagues

WINNIPEG LEADS

Winnipeg, Man., the "Gateway to Canada's Golden West", is the birthplace of more National Hockey League players than any other city. Fourteen of the 99 players in the League this season were born in Winnipeg.

Toronto is next with six native sons performing in the N.H.L., and is followed by Montreal with five and Saskatoon with four.

Out of the 99 N.H.L. players only eight were not born in Canada. Four of these were born in the United States, two in Scotland and one each in Ireland and Finland.

The four American born players are Bill Moe of Rangers, who was born in Danvers, Mass.; Pete Babando and Frank Brinkley of Boston, born in Braeburn, Pa., and Eyeloth, Minn., respectively, and Norm Dussault of Montreal Canadiens, who first entered the world at Springfield, Mass.

Adam Brown of Chicago Black Hawks was born in Johnstone, Scotland, while Jim Conacher of Detroit first saw the light of day at Motherwell, Scotland. Jimmy McFadden, Detroit Red Wings' Calder Memorial Trophy winner of last season, was born in Belfast, Ireland. The N.H.L. player born in Helsinki, Finland, is Ranger rookie Pentti Luin.

Of the 91 players born in Canada, 31 were born in the Province of Ontario, which is tops among the provinces. Saskatchewan is second with 20 native sons performing in the International hockey circuit. There are 19 Manitoba-born picketers in the League, 12 from Quebec and six from Alberta.

Stallion Kills Self In 'Plane

LONDON.—Djegal, a high-strung French stallion, went mad with fright on the first leg of an air trip to the United States recently and killed himself in efforts to kick his way out of the plane.

The four-year-old horse, winner of races in both France and England, was sold recently to an American syndicate of breeders for $225,000.

Seventeen dogs, all barking frantically, were cooped in the plane with the frenzied Djegal and were still yapping when the pilot took off again after making an emergency stop at Bovingdon airport to get rid of the carcass.

Officials at Bovingdon said "from the pilot's account it is a wonder the horse did not kick itself out into the air."

One official said Djegal "had a rough time in the air and actually killed himself."

MAY USE SOUND WAVES FOR PURIFYING WATER

OTTAWA.—High-frequency sound waves may soon be used instead of chlorine and other agents to purify water, a visitor to the Canadian Institute of Sewage and Sanitation convention said.

George S. Russell of St. Louis, president of the Federation of Sewage Works Association, said in an interview that supersonic waves may be used for water sterilization but that the matter is still in the experimental stage.

IRRIGATION PROJECT ON INDIAN RESERVE

REGINA, Sask. —There may be an irrigation project in operation by 1949 on the Piapot Indian reserve in southern Saskatchewan's Qu'Appelle valley. But the man who prompted the project won't be there to see it. Tribe members recently said goodbye to missionary Elmer W. Smith, a Mormon missionary to the band for the last two years, who returned home to Grace, Idaho. Mr. Smith's plans involved the use of spring runoff water for irrigation. Indians and missionaries would construct the dam and the preliminary plans are already drawn up.

British "Mums" And "Dads" Plan Trip To Canada

LONDON.—Thoughts of a "some-day" trip to Canada or the United States may soon become realities for thousands of British "mums" and "dads".

The parents of girls who married Canadian and American servicemen during the war, some want to go just for a visit, some perhaps to stay. And with an effort now becoming national through the United States and Canadian War Brides Parents' Association, that "some day" looks considerably closer.

The idea was born two years ago at Oxford and spread through England and Wales. The organization now embraces more than 4,000 members, not including clubs in Scotland yet to be affiliated to the national body.

A similar organization has been established in Holland where hundreds of Canadians married Dutch girls during the war. The Dutch association hopes to organize a Canadian agency to enable Dutch wives in Canada to save for trips to Holland.

In Britain branches of the U.S.C.B.P.A.—they're looking for a shorter name—are autonomous and control their own funds. Many a pound of rationed tea and butter and jars of jam from meagre larders of members go toward success of social functions through which funds are being built up. Most clubs also have lists through which members can save individually toward a trip.

Most members just want to see their daughters again. But to some Canada, described in letters from daughters now spread from Halifax to Victoria, hold a special appeal as a country in which to settle. It is said.

Sheep men got a good chance to see how their lambs hang up in carcasses form at the Regina Winter Fair.

Mrs. Mary Antrobus Leaves Coleman

Mrs. Mary Antrobus has said good-bye to Coleman, the Old Home Town, and stepped on the train enroute to Toronto where she will spend an indefinite period with her son-in-law and daughter Freda.

Coleman will miss Mrs. Antrobus greatly. Ever helpful and sympathetic, she was looked upon as a true friend of all those who sought her help and advice in her office which she administered with the aid of her late husband.

She has now retired from active business life and will spend a holiday at Toronto and possibly later at the west coast.

A host of Coleman friends join in wishing her good health and many years of quiet happy life.

Praise And Appreciation

We would like to voice a few words of appreciation through the medium of your paper and in so doing hope that encouragement and confidence may be passed along to other parents who may experience the same anxiety which has been ours and which now through the skill and care our little girl has received at the Junior Red Cross hospital has been relieved.

About three years ago our youngest child became lame and through the kind efforts of Miss Yuill we were able to get her into the Junior Red Cross hospital at Calgary where they found her hip to be out of joint. She was then not three years old and it was hard to leave her there but after our first visit our hearts were made much lighter for we found her happy in her surroundings. It is astonishing to find these little crippled children bright and happy. Many are not able to move or sit up but the cheerfulness of those who attend to each child seems to impart to each child the same spirit. In all our visits we could not help but admire the brave spirit of the little people.

To-day our little girl is cured and we wish to express our grateful thanks to those at the Junior Red Cross hospital especially Dr. Townsend and Miss Reid. The work of those at the hospital is wonderful, patience and kindness is unlimited and is portrayed by the happiness of the children.

In conclusion we would like to add that Coleman is indeed fortunate to have a leader in the person of Miss Yuill who has, through the years, kept her pupils interested in the work of the Junior Red Cross and instilled into them the joy of helping to bring health and happiness, through hospital treatment, into the lives of so many who might otherwise have been crippled for life.

We thank Miss Yuill and her pupils from the bottom of our hearts and are proud that our other children are privileged to be members of this grand organization.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Caklos

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

If you worry about the impression you make on other people, remember this: You are really important to a large number of people!

Yes, almost everyone you meet and associate with depends on you to support their self-confidence in some way. Even those who seem "high hat" and independent really want to earn your favourable opinion.

Here are some ways to make yourself even more important to others:

1. Be a good listener. Go out of your way to express appreciation of what the other fellow says and does.
2. If he is your superior, show due respect. If an assistant, encourage him and let him know that you value his services.
3. Never belittle the ability or accomplishments of others. Be a booster.
4. Don't contradict, even if you are right. State your facts or opinions in some indirect way.

By following these hints you will enjoy better personal relations wherever you are. And this, in turn, will do wonders for your own self-confidence!

To his family, a father is the most important person in the world. And since the family depends on him for their financial support, the typical Canadian father protects his family with life insurance.

it is expected more will enrol as soon as they know that classes will continue. Mr. Gower Kennedy, who is qualified to teach typing and shorthand, is in charge of the class, and will give information to those interested.

The classes are held twice weekly, in one of the rooms at the public school, the use of which has been granted by the school board.—Macleod Gazette.

SPORTSMANSHIP!

In the world of Sport one learns to give and take, to be a good loser as well as a good winner.

A true sportsman never expects to be constantly receiving and never giving a fair share back in return.

SO IT IS IN INDUSTRY with Management and Labor. Each has to give and take in order that the wheels of industry keep turning in the interests of all.

have solemn manifestation of the love that man bears to his Country, to his family, and his willingness to die in order to perpetuate the free condition in which they live, to guarantee unto his children, and to the children of his fellows the legacy of freedom of choice in their manner of living, and the priceless gift of immunity from dictates of a foreign rule. It is inspiring to contemplate that these children have grown to manhood, and have endorsed the principles their fathers held; in turn to lay down their lives in the same cause, and to follow their forbears in the ascent to honour and glory.

"With a deep and full knowledge of what this memorial means to us all, we came here in all humility to honour these whose names are inscribed on its granite surfaces, and although the mortal remains of these honoured dead now rest in foreign and distant lands many miles from home, be sure that their spirit is here with us this morning, a spirit imbedded into the very stone itself, for as you read the names of those you have known and loved, and run gentle fingers over the tracings of their names, you will know that you have been in their presence.

"We cannot predict how long this monument will stand, but certainly for many generations. It is inconceivable that the hand of man would in anyway desecrate or dishonour it, but in each successive generation, and even when the ravages of time and the lashing of centuries of storm will have crumbled it to dust, so long as one fragment remains atop another, and so long as this corner of the earth remains a pathway in the stream of life, children will come here and wonder, old men will come and meditate; and through all these years, the coming generations will gather strength from the message of this monument, strength to meet the problems of their own day.

"It is difficult to know what to say to cheer those who come with perhaps a little bitterness in their pride. I speak now of the next-of-kin whose sorrow some of us can never know. It is not so difficult to bring a message to our youth, to instill a sense of pride in their ancestors, in that they are members of the same great nation as these who have given of their blood. It is not difficult to speak to the returned veterans. We need not speak to them of the meaning of this memorial. They saw their comrades as they fell, and witnessed the sacrifices made by our warriors day by day. They know only too well what this monument represents, and they have already made their dedication. A dedication made on the field of battle, and expressed in lifelong reverence and admiration for their fallen comrades. It is difficult, very difficult, to know what to say to those many who regard this event, as but another event in the course of their lives, who regard the sacrifices made by these our heroes as something rather detached from themselves, and whose attitude is overlaid with indifference.

"Here in the full light of day, enshrined in ageless stone, lives the names of many of our citizens who paid the supreme sacrifice that we may live, men who counted life not more precious than honour, men who counted the solitude of death more to be desired than the enslavement of their countrymen under a foreign yoke.

"It is no idle thing that they have done. It is no idle thing to forgo the sweet promises of youth, to forgo the pleasures and fullness of life. It is no mean thing to don a martial uniform, to stand out on the Nation's ramparts to suffer the onslaughts of the enemy, to know the anguish and toll of battle. Let us look well to the meaning of this monument, and let us search our hearts and minds, that we may fully realize the magnificence of the gift that these our dead have bequeathed unto us. Let this stone symbolize for us the highest meaning of this gift, and let us dedicate ourselves to a never failing acknowledgment of its bounty.

"Here, in shining glory, we have evidence of man's eternal endeavor to realize that state of human conduct which God himself has set for us, the integrity and freedom of the individual the sanctity of personal liberty.

"To these our honoured dead, who have so valiantly fought and died in the service of this ideal, to these honoured dead who have achieved the greatest virtue within the capacity of mankind, the virtue of sacrifice, that virtue which enables a man to lay down his life for his Country, to these most glorious dead, let us dedicate this cenotaph—

"In Loving Remembrance and To The Glory of God."

Following his address the names of those Fallen Warriors of 1914-18 were read aloud by Comrade W. H. Garner, and those of 1939-45 by Comrade Wm. Antle. Following the reading of the names a Lament, Flowers of the Forest, was played by the Pipe Band, The "Last Post" followed by two minutes silence and followed by "Reveille" was played by Bugler Corrado Jim Lowe.

Chairman J. J. McIntyre then called upon the representatives of seventeen local organizations lined up in front of the Cenotaph to come forward and lay their wreaths.

Organizations placing wreaths at the cenotaph included: Memorial Park Committee, Coleman Branch B. E. S. L., Provincial Command, B.E.S.L., Coleman branch Ladies Auxiliary, Town of Coleman, Coleman Board of Trade, Summit Lodge, No. 30, A.F. & A.M., Order Eastern Star, Minerva Chapter, Catholic Youth Organization, Victoria Rebekah Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Pythian Sisters, Teachers and pupils Cameron School, Coal Companies, Polish Society, Polish veterans, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rogers, Coleman Elks, Order Royal Purple.

Names appearing on the Cenotaph for the 1939-45 conflict include W. Nimean, G. J. Kroesing, G. C. Morris, L. J. Jankulak, T. J. Brennan, J. W. MacQuarrie, A. McDonald, W. Harrison, M. Rucka, P. J. Gandy, R. H. Grewcutt, A. F. Dickson, R. K. McLeod, J. Rogers.

1914-18 names include J. A. Price, J. H. Williams, M. Odgers, W. Anderson, R. Turner, C. F. Dunlop, J. A. Josephs, E. Reid, W. H. Kent, J. P. Gregory, H. Claes, L. Henriel, J. Guren, Mitchell, W. Mags, E. E. Bias, H. Trette.

In the front of the Cenotaph is the inscription: "In Memory of Those Whose Names Endure 'The Great War, 1914-1918' 'The World War 1939-1945' 'They Died That We Might Live'."

Rev. Dr. R. Magowan spoke from the Scriptures to bring the services to a close.

A New Travel Ration Period

Began

November 16th

AS ANNOUNCED BY THE MINISTER OF FINANCE
THE REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE USE OF
U.S. DOLLARS FOR TRAVEL CONTINUE IN FORCE.

As in the past, it will be necessary for Canadians to obtain a permit from their bank if they wish to take out of Canada more than $10 U.S. or more than $25 in U.S. and Canadian currency combined.

Reports show that the saving of U.S. dollars made possible by travel rationing can be expected to amount to between $40 and $50 million during the period November 16th, 1947 to November 15th, 1948. This substantial sum was thus made available for the purchase of many essential supplies and commodities during this time.

The regulations governing the amount of U.S. dollars available for different travel purposes are outlined below:—

Pleasure Travel

The maximum amount of U.S. dollars which any Canadian resident may obtain for pleasure travel purposes during the twelve months beginning November 16th, 1948, is $150. In the case of children of eleven years and under, the amount is $100. There is no restriction on the number of trips as long as the annual allotment is not exceeded. Any U.S. dollars obtained for one trip and not used on that trip must be brought back to Canada and exchanged for Canadian dollars at the traveller's bank immediately on his return. No credit for funds thus turned back can be allowed against the annual ration for subsequent trips.

Business Travel

Applications for U.S. dollars for business travel must include a certification by the employer that the travel is in his business interests. Reasonable amounts of U.S. dollars may be obtained for this purpose.

Border Travel

A Canadian resident may take out of Canada without a permit up to $25 in currency, of which not more than $10 is in U.S. currency. For this purpose, he may purchase up to $10 U.S. in any calendar month. This is in addition to the annual travel ration.

No Relaxation In Regulations For Canadians Travelling In United States

OTTAWA—There will be no relaxation in the regulations rationing United States dollars for pleasure travel during the ensuing year, Hon. Douglas Abbott, Minister of Finance, announced.

He stated that present regulations, instituted a year ago as part of Canada's dollar saving program, would continue in force during the period from November 16, 1948, to November 15, 1949.

At the same time he said it was expected that the rationing of pleasure travel during the past 12 months was expected to show a saving of between $10,000,000 and $50,000,000. As at present, the maximum amount of United States dollars which any Canadian resident may obtain for pleasure travel will be $150, and in the case of children 11 years and under, $100.

The Minister paid tribute to the Canadian public for its co-operation during the past year in complying with both the spirit and letter of travel regulations. Referring to the saving of $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 he said this substantial sum had been made available for many essential supplies and commodities during this period.

"Decision to continue the pleasure travel ration," said Mr. Abbott, "was reached after a most careful assessment of all factors relating to Canada's United States dollar position. It was felt that rationing of pleasure travel was less onerous than many other restrictions deemed necessary by exchange difficulties. Therefore, to the extent that the exchange situation had improved, it seemed reasonable to relax the more burdensome regulations first. Travel restriction, however, will be removed as soon as conditions warrant."

Form "H" permits will continue to be necessary to take out of Canada more than $10 U.S., or more than $25 in U.S. and Canadian funds combined. As in the past there will be no restriction on the number of pleasure trips taken by Canadians in the United States as long as the annual allotment is not exceeded. Any U.S. dollars obtained for one trip and not used on that trip must be brought back to Canada and exchanged for Canadian dollars.

Applications for U.S. dollars for business, health or educational travel will continue to receive special consideration, it was stated.

SWEDISH WORKERS LIVE IN COMFORTABLE FLATS

The Swedish worker is one of the best-housed in the world today, visitors to Stockholm report. Most workers live in specially built modern flats with every convenience. Each block is centrally heated and flats have double windows to stop stray drafts and are arranged so that the whole block gets adequate light and ventilation. The interiors are beautifully finished—kitchens resplendent with stainless steel, beautiful wood and labor-saving devices. However, "weather changes come so fast that Stockholm always seem to have a cold," one commentator remarks.

MOULD FOR DOLLS CAN COST $20,000

VANCOUVER—You can have a doll that blows bubbles, drinks water, and burps, or you can have a doll made to order—for about $18,000.

Mouley Freeman, executive of a large Toronto toy concern, revealed some vital statistics on his annual pre-Christmas pilgrimage here.

He said the original mould for a doll may run as high as $30,000. Mass-production from the mould brings them down to the customer's pocket book.

"Everybody wants Canadian dolls," said Freeman, who presented the Duette quintuplets with a set of five dolls, and sold thousands of copies to visitors.

He created a special doll for Princess Elizabeth when she married, and gave Queen Wilhelmina of Holland four dolls for her grandchildren.

HEALTH

Dust May Cause Infantile Eczema

The possibility that house dust is an important cause of atopic dermatitis, or infantile eczema, is advanced by Jerome Glaser, M.D., of Rochester, N.Y., writing in a recent issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Infantile eczema is an allergic disease which, it is believed, is caused by direct contact of the skin with certain allergens, as well as by allergens which have been inhaled and which reach the skin through the blood stream. An allergen is any substance which is capable of inducing allergy or specific susceptibility.

Among the characteristics of atopic dermatitis are watery sores, scales and crusts, and itching or burning sensations. The affliction is commoner in infants and children because their tender skins are more easily penetrated by allergens than those of adults.

According to Dr. Glaser, "the characteristic distribution of atopic dermatitis, with lesions worse on the face, the area of the arms below the elbows and the area of the legs below the knees, suggests a possible contact origin." In view of this, he says, "it is tempting to consider that such lesions might be caused by a ubiquitous and powerful allergen, house dust, which could act either by contact or inhalation."

As further evidence of the importance of house dust in causing infantile eczema, Dr. Glaser points out that "the often remarkably beneficial results of hospitalization are commonly attributed to avoidance of house dust as well as of other environmental allergens," adding that good results in the alleviation of the conditions have also been attained by treating patients with injections of house dust extract.

According to the article, there is no completely satisfactory treatment of infantile eczema and therefore "the problem is to do the best one can with a disease which is usually self limited, with a tendency to spontaneous remissions and eventual recovery regardless of therapy."

Prophylactic, or preventive measures, such as avoidance of dust or irritating wool clothing, are considered important in the orthodox treatment of the disease. Special baths, prepared by adding a cup or two of cornstarch to a tub of tepid water, are also recommended for early stages of the disease.

The local application of paste of resorcinol, made up of one part zinc oxide, one part corn or arrowroot starch, and two parts white petrolatum is highly satisfactory in more advanced or chronic stages. In all cases of atopic dermatitis, the article says, it is well to put the patient on a simple elimination diet, which includes substitutes for cow's milk and the administration of vitamins A, D and C.

GLASS SNAKE SWIFT

The glass snake is often found in loose soil of dry fields from Illinois to Florida and westward into Mexico. It has no feet, but is able to move swiftly by serpentine movements. Its tail is so loosely articulated and free of muscle that when overtaken and an attempt made to capture it, the tail breaks off like a bit of glass. It is quickly renewed by a new growth and the animal is not injured.

MANUFACTURING PROPANE GAS

CALGARY.—Manufacture of propane gas in commercial quantities started in Canada for the first time recently with the official opening of the Western Propane Ltd., of Calgary plant in the Turner Valley oil field.

Small quantities of propane gas have been manufactured and sold in Canada as a minor by-product of oil refineries. However, the new $500,000

Turner Valley plant is believed to be the first constructed solely for the manufacture of the gas. It uses natural gas that formerly was "flared" or wasted at the well-head.

Propane is the natural gas that comes out of the wells. Chief constituent of the gas is methane. In its natural state, propane is too light and volatile for use in ordinary natural gas transmission, distribution and consumption systems. The new plant processes it and condenses it into a liquid for easy transportation and handling. It changes readily to a gas when used.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

NICHOLAS WINTERS, M.D.

By FERN AUBLE

YOUNG Dr. Nick stood staring at the nameplate. He'd just taken it down from the front of the tiny flimsy and the clean paint of the mail oblong space where the sign had hung for the past three years was a glaring wound. He remembered the day he'd hung the sign there himself. Fresh from his internship in the big hospital of the city several hundred miles away, he had come to this small village of Andover to take up the practice reluctantly relinquished by old Dr. Powers.

Doc Powers was almost a legend in this small Midwest community. For over fifty years, he had practiced here, and everyone in the entire county knew and trusted him. It had never made any difference to Doc whether you had any money or not. If you needed him, that was enough. But, finally, the overworked machine rebelled and that's how it happened that young Dr. Nicholas Winters had taken over.

It hadn't all been easy sledding that first year. People, used to Dr. Powers, were reluctant to transfer that confidence to a stranger. He remembered the pride with which that sign had been hung, he remembered the long wait before his first patient. The people were friendly enough, but they simply reserved judgment.

Dr. Powers, once his successor was settled in Mrs. Laird's rooming house, left Andover to live with his daughter in California. Dr. Nick had watched him leave with mingled emotions. He was anxious to get started on his own, but Doc Powers had been moral support.

His first patient had been little Jimmy Donovan. Manfully, he had attempted to cut wood and the axe had slipped. Mrs. Donovan had carried Jimmy to Dr. Nick, her face white. It was a nasty gash and Dr. Nick's hands were gentle as he cleaned and bound the leg.

By the end of the first year, he was not only the town's doctor but its friend.

Then, without warning, he had received a letter from Dr. Graham, offering him a position on the staff of the hospital where he had interned. It was unthinkable that he refuse.

As word got around of his departure, there was consternation in the town.

"Course, he's got a right to do what he wants, but it does seem like a shame to come here just long enough for folks to get used to him and then pick up and leave." This from old Mrs. Shane.

"I don't blame him for leaving. He's wasted here in this moss-grown town." Denise Randall's eyes were stormy and her lovely, rebellious mouth twisted with envy.

Dr. Nick tried not to mind the accusing looks and went about the business of closing up the office. There was all his equipment to be packed. He planned to take it along with him, not knowing just why, since he'd not be needing it at the modern hospital. There was a wry twist to his mouth and an almost embarrassed look in his eyes as he admitted to himself that it was probably simply sentiment that made him refuse to give up these shining, gleaming proofs of his ability to establish himself as a full-fledged doctor. In all humility, he knew he'd done a good job here; that the people liked and trusted him as they had liked and trusted old Dr. Powers. He knew that for as long as he liked, he would be welcome and needed here, not only for his medical prowess, but for himself, as well.

As he stowed everything in the car, he felt a twinge of remorse and wondered if he had made the right decision. These people needed a doctor. Was he being selfish unthinking of that need? The bare space where his sign had been seemed to taunt him.

He turned abruptly and climbed into the car. As he drove down the street he passed a group of boys playing in the street. Jimmy Donovan was among them. Dr. Nick waved to him, but Jimmy only stared at him. Dr. Nick flushed with irritation and told himself that it was his own life he had to plan, not that of a town. But Jimmy's action had hurt.

As he reached the outskirts, he passed the home of Andrew Holmes. Andrew had been one of Dr. Nick's closest friends. Their friendship had taken root when Dr. Nick had begun treating Mrs. Holmes who had been bedfast for several years. It had seemed, in the past few months, that the service of treatments he had been giving her were helping and lately there had been a new look of hope in the gentle-pained eyes. Now, of course, the treatments would have no effect, unless the doctor who came here continued them. So far as Dr. Nick knew, there was no one to succeed him. Andrew had said nothing about the treatments when he learned that Dr. Nick was leaving the town, but there had been a hurt, questioning look far back in his eyes.

Suddenly, a mile out of town, Dr. Nick stopped the car and sat for a moment thinking. Then, with an air of determination, he turned the car around and headed back for town. As he passed the Holmes residence, he glimpsed the "I wonder," he thought, "if Andrew will still let me continue those treatments." He felt a strange sureness within him that some day, not too far distant, Mary Holmes would be walking again.

Saskatoon Motorist Carries Organ

SASKATOON. — When former Saskatoon, 57-year-old William Brooks, rolled into this city to visit old friends, the neighbors were pretty happy.

William had installed an electric organ in his trailer before leaving South Gate, Calif., and he whiled away spare hours here playing the instrument.

It wasn't the first experience in portable music for the former Londoner. When the family came to Saskatchewan in 1910, they didn't waste much time before acquiring a piano, pulled from function to function in the winter on a sleigh.

LONG SHOPPING TRIP FOR DOOR HANDLES

LONDON. — A burrhead motorist U Mynt Darr arrived by plane from Rangoon (fare $1,082.40) to see London's automobile show and buy a new car.

"Prices are too high," he said as he climbed back into a plane for the return trip.

His only purchase: four chromium-plated door handles to brighten up his rusty 1939 model.

ROLLER SKATES USED IN JAPANESE SPINNING MILL

OKAYAMA, Japan. — A spinning mill here is paying 40 of its girl employees to roller skate on company time. Efficiency-minded officials found out that by putting the girls on wheels, they can glide up and down the low rows of machines much faster and turn out more work.

The Unexplainable Friendship Tug Of Rural Life Succeeded Again.

He passed the same group of boys playing in the street, and older more he waved to Jimmy Donovan, and held his breath until he received an answering salute from Jimmy.

As he reached the tiny office once more, he had the feeling of coming home from a dark and lonesome journey. He jumped out of the car and strode up the walk. Half way up the walk, he stopped and stared in amazement. There, covering the bare clean spot once more, was his own sign—Nicholas Winters, M.D.

He went on up the walk and stood looking at it. He reached out hesitantly and touched the familiar letters.

He looked around to find Andrew Holmes standing at his side, laughing.

"Andrew," Dr. Nick said bewilderedly, "I don't understand."

"Shucks, boy, I knew you'd be back," Andrew's fine eyes were compassionately understanding, as he put his hand on Dr. Nick's shoulder.

"I'm seldom wrong," he continued, "and I knew I wasn't wrong about you. You're just not the kind to desert people who need you. And you know we need you here."

As Dr. Nick entered the familiar, friendly office, he wondered vaguely what young sprout would be taking over here some fifty years hence.

And puts to bed his favorite love—

Cougar, Deer Battle To Death

KELOWNA, B.C. — Deer versus cougar usually goes the way of the cougar, but five local hunters came across convincing evidence that it doesn't always.

In this case death was the victor. Hunters Geoff Johnson, Charlie Sherman, George Sherman, Jim McCauley and John Bair, hunting near Carmi, 45 miles southeast of here on the Kettle Valley railroad, found the remains of a big buck and a large cougar, side by side, locked in death.

The horns of the buck were nearly ripped from the sockets and the head of the cougar was smashed, with the jaw almost torn off. One of the deer's horn prongs was firmly imbedded in the cougar's jaw. They believe the death struggle must have lasted for hours.

Western Briefs

VICTORIA, B.C. — Farmers are now allowed to kill muskrats by any means. The animals have grown so numerous they threaten dykes-protected areas. Previously regulations were that they could only be trapped.

NORTH BATHURST, Sask. — Phil Bester removed a corked bottle floating in the Saskatchewan river at Baljennie, found a note inside indicating it had been tossed into the river by Tom Pumphrey at Edmonton on Oct. 1, 1928.

CALGARY. — Soil, not climate, will be the limiting factor in agricultural development in Canada's Northwest Territories, says J. W. Grant MacEwen of the University of Manitoba said in an address at the annual meeting of the United Grain Growers. He predicted watermelons would be grown at Norman Wells, almost within sight of the Arctic Circle, within a few years.

CONGRESS, Sask. — The Congress board of the province has sent the following telegram to President Harry Truman at Washington: "We of this town, named after your national legislature and whose streets are named after your illustrious past presidents, Roosevelt, Wilson, Taft and Washington, wish to congratulate you on your signal success at polls."

VANCOUVER. Reports on mechanical refrigeration tests made in connection with a recent large shipment of frozen fruits and vegetables show highly satisfactory results.

COWS GET TOUGH

MARENGO. Farmers around Marengo claim they have some of the toughest cows there are. Theodore Lehmusvirta of the U.S. forest service at Clam Lake saw a dozen head of young cattle "gang up" on a bear and chase him more than 500 yards into the woods.

Sapphires are not only deep blue in color, but there are yellow, orange, purple, pink lavenders, aqua blue and green sapphires. They are mined in Ceylon, Burma, Thailand, Australia and the United States.

The winning grain club exhibit at Besecker was built around soil conservation by the Acme Wheat Club.

Pedals Bicycle Across Canada

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. — Johnny Kenny of Tron, Ayrshire, couldn't sell his bicycle before leaving Scotland, so he brought it with him and pedaled from Eastern Canada to join his wife and son here. Kenny made the trip in easy stages after landing in the dominion, Aug. 7. An electric welder by trade, he earned money for necessities on the way.

"Rather than lose money on my bike, I brought it to Canada and put it to good use," he said. "I found everybody most friendly. A few lifts helped me along."

Their Honeymoon Has Never Ended

KEWANEE, Ill. — Rev. Loyd Thompson has performed his 1,000th wedding ceremony and he recalled recently one marriage he thinks must be sublimely happy after many years.

Dr. Thompson said that after one of his early ceremonies, in 1925, the bridegroom promised to pay the wedding fee as soon as the honeymoon ended.

"He hasn't come back yet," the minister said, "and, as far as I know, the honeymoon has never ended."

WEDDINGS

DUNCAN - MacMILLAN
A quiet but interesting wedding took place at Bellevue on Monday, Nov. 15, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Wolf when Miss Helen MacMillan, daughter of Mr. A. MacMillan, of Brockton, and the late Mrs. MacMillan, was united in marriage to William Duncan, only son of Mrs. Tom Duncan, of Bellevue, and the late Mr. Duncan. Rev. Dr. R. Magowan conducted the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, entered the living room to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. She wore a grey afternoon dress with wine accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. R. G. Wolf, sister of the bride, was a matron-of-honor, and wore a dress of black tulle and a corsage of tea roses. L. S. Richards, brother-in-law to the groom, was bestman. Following the ceremony the bride party motored to Coleman where a reception was held in the Grand Union hotel.

The young couple are now spending a honeymoon in California. For travelling the bride wore a muskrat fur coat with grey and wine accessories.

The club has secured the services of Fred Lloyd as treasurer and is at the moment organizing its finances in preparation for an active season.

The club will be representative to the players from the Bellevue, Hillcrest, Blainmore and Coleman complete the roster.

Through the co-operation of the management of the Bellevue Artificial Ice arena the juveniles are holding practices twice weekly.

Irvin Frew, coach of the Coleman Grands, sent his charges through a brisk work-out at the Bellevue arena on Sunday, Nov. 14. The club is fast rounding into shape and with the return of a few popular veterans will be worthy 1948-49 representatives and maintain Coleman's enviable hockey reputation.

At an A.B.C. Intercollegiate hockey league meeting held at Blainmore on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 14, delegates from Cranbrook, Coleman and Blainmore decided to re-organize the league for the coming season. The Kimberley Juniors, coached by Benny Redisky, will be invited to join the league.

J. V. McDougall and Arlick Tiberg, both of Blainmore, were returned to their respective positions as president and secretary-treasurer.

This league will not only guarantee gate receipts required to finance the club but will also keep rivalry active between the two seasons of these neighboring provinces.

Coleman Grands will also arrange exhibition games as the above mentioned league will not provide sufficient competition for the season's activities.

Any players desirous of attending practices are invited by the executive to be on hand when ever practices are arranged.

FOREST RESERVE STILL CLOSED

Forest Ranger Irvin Frew states that the Crows Nest Forest reserve is still closed to travel and therefore still closed for hunting.

The few flakes of snow which have fallen to-date have not been sufficient apparently in the eyes of the provincial forestry officials to open the reserves to unrestricted travel. The timber is still too dry to risk it to the mercy of some careless hunter, or forest traveller.
